About the Company:

Abbott is a global healthcare leader committed to helping people live fuller lives through innovative technologies in diagnostics, medical devices, nutrition, and branded generic medicines. With 115,000 employees serving more than 160 countries, we embrace diversity and welcome talented individuals to grow with us.

We are looking for 2026 Intern to support our Cardiac Rhythm Management team. In this role, you will assist with clinical and operational activities related to cardiac implantable electronic devices (CIEDs). This internship offers hands on exposure in real hospital settings — ideal for students interested in biomedical engineering, medical devices, or healthcare technology.
